

Kim - Thu, 2/13/2014 - 14:27

Long term appreciated property is appreciated property that has been held by the owner for more than 12 months. When a taxpayer sells long term appreciated property, the gain realized in the sale is subject to capital gains tax.

Print

Categories

Possible Funding Assets